

2018 Anne and Max Tanenbaum Symposium: Brain Development in the Face of Adversity

Wednesday, November 14, 2018

8:15 AM – 12:15 PM

Women's College Hospital
Conference Centre Auditorium

- 08:15 a.m. Coffee
- 08:30 a.m. Welcome
Richard Hegele
Vice Dean, Research & Innovation, Faculty of Medicine, University of Toronto
- 08:35 a.m. Introduction
Tomas Paus
Distinguished Senior Scientist, Director of Population Neuroscience & Developmental Neuroimaging Program
- 08:40 a.m. “Wired to be Human: Development and Evolution of Neocortical Circuits”
Nenad Sestan
Professor, Department of Neuroscience, Yale University
- 09:20 a.m. “Molecular Imbalances in Autism Spectrum and Related-Disorders”
Stephen Scherer
Professor, Hospital for Sick Children and University of Toronto
- 10:00 a.m. Coffee Break
- 10:15 a.m. “White Matter Injury in the Developing Brain”
Jessie Guo
Research Associate, Neurosciences and Mental Health Program, Hospital for Sick Children
- 10:55 a.m. “Exploring Developmental Brain Disorders in 50K Exomes from a Health System Cohort ”
Christa Martin
Professor and Director, Autism & Developmental Medicine Institute, Geisinger
- 11:35 a.m. “Effective Implementation of Mental Health and Psychosocial Support for Women and Children Affected by Armed Conflict”
Michelle Gaffey
PhD Candidate (Epidemiology), University of Toronto
- 12:15 p.m. Thank You and Adjournment
Tomas Paus