Are you a youth with or without a disability who travels independently?

Consider participating in a study about youth's experiences in navigating as a pedestrian, taking public transportation or getting a driver's license.

What is this study about?

We want to understand your experiences in traveling as a pedestrian, navigating public transportation and/or learning to drive and obtaining a license.

Who can participate?

We are looking for:

- Youth with a physical disability, vision impairment or autism, OR
  - Youth without a disability
- Have experience travelling independently (either through public transportation, as a pedestrian or having a driver's license)
- Aged 14-21

What's involved?

Participants will be asked to take part in:

- Keep notes about your transport/pedestrian experiences in a journal for 1 week
- 1 interview (approx. 1 hour) over the phone or in-person

What are the risks and benefits of participating?

- A benefit of participating includes helping us to learn about the challenges that youth experience regarding travel and to develop solutions to address them.
