Are you a parent/guardian of a Bloorview client? Considering participating in our study.

What is this study about:

- Youth transition readiness refers to youth having the behaviours and skills necessary to live their adult lives as part of their community.
- Our goal is to find out what Holland Bloorview's parents/guardians think about their children's transition readiness.
- Parents/Guardians should participate because it may help Holland Bloorview to know where families are at, and because it may get you thinking about things you have not thought of before.

Who can participate?

- Parents/Guardians (any adult family member in a caregiving role) of Holland Bloorview clients whose children are:
  - ages 12 to 21 OR
  - ages 22 to 25 if receiving transition services through Holland Bloorview

What's involved?

- The study is from October 2020 to April 2022.
- You will need to complete an online survey answering questions about your child's transition readiness.
- You will complete the same online survey with the same questions again two weeks later.

Potential Benefits?

- There will be six chances to win a $25 giftcard.
- This study may help Holland Bloorview learn about youth transition readiness directly from families.

Potential Risks?

- We don't think there are any risks to doing this study.
